CLAUDE BOWERS FOR U. S. SENATE BOOM STARTED

FORMER FIFTH DISTRICT RESI-DENT GIVEN GREAT OVATION AT DEMOCRATIC EDITORIAL CONVENTION BANQUET-NA-TIONAL CHAIRMAN CORDELL HULL A SPEAKER

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 17 .- An unexpected feature of the Indiana Demo cratic Editorial Association love feast in the Riley Room of the Claypool Hotel last night was the staging of a prolonged demonstration for Claude Bowers of Fort Wayne as a candidate for the party's nomination for United States senator.

More than 500 editors and Democratic men and women attended the banquet to hear the campaign keynote address by Cordell Hull, Democratic national chairman.

Mr. Bower, one of the speakers preceding the national chairman, scathingly denounced the Republican national administration. His whirl- ROACHDALE QUINTET wind speech and enthusiasm lifted the banqueters to a high pitch of a partisan militancy.

Bowers completed his speech with a reference to Woodrow Wilson.

"The broke his body, but the soul of the League of Nations, which he created, goes on," he declared. Crowd Shouts "Senator"

Immediately there were shouts of "Senator, Senator," in various parts castle. Since they defeated Greenof the room. The applause and cheer ing grew and the audience arose. from the Ohio State gym crew.

The swimming team was the only one that did not bring in the long end of the score, losing to the Maroons at Chicago, 47 to 21.

In order to capture the conference net title, it will be necessary for the Boilermakers to win all three remaining games on the conference schedule. These teams include Chicago, Illinois and Indiana and with the reorganization necessary by the dropping of White, this will be no easy task. However, Holwerda is going good and with the other men that Coach Lambert has brought out ,local fans are hopeful of three victories, although they realize the strength of all three teams and the Wabash outfit, too. which also is on the Boilermaker schedule. The Little Giants are regarded as stacking up favorably with any Big Ten team. Chicago will play here next Saturday night.

The Boilermakers mat squad will go into action again next Friday night and meet some of the strongest opposition of the season from the Hawkeyes at Iowa City. Coach Paulson is working his men hard for this event. Von Bernuth, who recently returned to Purdue, has called for freshmen wrestlers and the yearlings are turning out in force presaging a more seasoned outfit for next year. The swimmers met I. HUNGRY TOTS SHARE BREAD

"I'm Not Used to So Much," Child Tells Relief Worker.

This is the second of a series of four articles on the Russian famine situation by Isaac McBride, well known American writer and lecturer, for the American Committee for Russian Famine Bellef, 408 Stelnway building, Chicago. Mr. McBride was one of the first Americans to enter Soviet Russia after the allied intervention and blockade. He traveled over what is now the famine area in Russia and is intimately familiar with conditions that culminated in the terrible catastrophe that has visited that country.

By ISAAC McBRIDE

HAS BEEN asserted by many I travelers in Russia before and after the war that the Russian peasant is a 1,500 hogs going to outside interests. peculiar combination of cruelty and kindness. There is a great deal of truth in this statement, but the bare charge of cruelty itself, without any elucidation, is unfair.

The Russian peasant for centuries had suffered from a feudal system of land tenure which held him in abject slavery and oppression. He was not only condemned from childhood to the most poverty stricken existence, but actually lived in fear of his life.

The Russian peasants under the Romanoffs and for centuries before were the victims of the most bureaucratic system that history affords any knowledge of, not excepting Roman

They were treated by the great land owners like cattle. Their mission in life was to work from sunrise to sunset and ask no questions. Never given any voice in the political life of the country, denied even the right to learn to read and write, their life was truly fe in the depths.

With their emancipation as serfs in 861, which was accorded as a matter of defense against them by their masters, the peasants had great hopes of enjoying life to its full.

They soon learned, however, that giving them land carried with it so many burdens in the form of taxation. that far from improving their econom ic and political condition, they were for all practical purposes still serfs. T: ke Lands by Force.

The peasants of Russia have a ways lived in hopes of enjoying in dividual ownership of land. This had been their dream and when the rev olution came, all their pent up fury was released and they reached out and took the land by force.

They brooked no opposition from the nobles and when resisted they showed their fangs and burned many of the manors of the nobles. True, this was cruelty, but it was the result of centuries of cruelty on the other side.

Whatever faults they may have, the Russian peasants are innately hospit able: especially is this quality most pronounced in their native villages Their kindness is spontaneous, whereas their cruelty, wherever it shows itself, results from long meditation over real or imaginary wrongs.

They will not see another suffe needlessly if they can prevent it. No stranger ever knocks at the room of peasant hut in a Russian village with being asked if he is hungry an desires food before any other questions are put to him. It makes no differ ence what their own poverty may be they are always ready to share their meager fare. They will willingly go miles out of their way to direct an absolute stranger to a given place and when offered compensation are highly embarrassed.

Show Keen Rivalry,

If a traveler is held up over night and cannot proceed until morning, the villagers all vie with each other for the privilege of offering whatever comfort can be given, and instead of being asked to pay for a night's lodging, he will be given a package of food upon departing with the blessing of all assembled to see him off.

This spirit of kindliness is not only to be observed among the men and women of the village, but is also true of the children. The tales of self sacrifice that have come out of the Volga valley since the dreadful famine overtook these unfortunate people are numberless.

It is reported that the American Relief Commission is finding it extreme ly trying to live up to a selective plan of feeding, where practically all the inhabitants are in dire need of food.

By requiring the children to eat their meals in the relief kitchens, the workers insure against the delivery of food to persons who have not been passed upon by examining physicians. But the children make many pathetic attempts to dodge the regulations.

Stories Tug Heart Strings. One little girl in the kitchen ate only part of her bowl of rice, milk and sugar and asked permission to take the remainder home to her father who was ill with typhus.

"It is really more than I care for," she said. "I am not used to having so much at once."

In families where one child is recom mended for feeding by the doctors while brothers and sisters are not given food cards, it is net unusual for the fortunate one to take the others along to the kitchen and carry out to them a portion of the ration. The selfsacrificing spirit of the little boys and girls makes it doubly hard for the relief workers, in view of the fact that there is not sufficient food forthoming, as yet, for all. These unfortunate sufferers must be saved, and can be if the appeal of the American Committee for Russian Fau-

HINTS THAT ARE HINTS. We want to join this procession of health hinters with a few remarks born of long experience.

When you feel real mean and dopey pare your finger nails. The trimming of the free edge cheers up the whole system. The matrix of the nail is one of the most sensitive parts of the human body. Stick a splinter in it and see. When the nail is allowed to grow too long it loses its intelligence, balks the nerves and disturbs the equilbrium.

When your head bothers you part the hair on the other side. It will enable you to strike a balance.

When your jugular vein thumps annoyingly you want to go to sleep for a long time. It means your vital

When your tongue is like a stick take an emetic. There's an enemy in your stomach.

When your eyes are lachrymose and their whites are yellow take calomel. When teeth and gums hurt you

When your circulation is bad scrape the soles of your feet.

TAXPAYING PLEASURES. The reason that taxpaying is an agreeable duty, a pronounced pleasure, is that it is, at best, but a meager com pensation for innumerable general and special advantages. The man who finds taxpaying uncongenial has hardly the state of mind or soul to apeciate his possessions, even when they are greater than his neighbor's. There should be a law that, if a person grumble about taxes, his property should be confiscated to the citizen who would be most gratified to give a percentage of his profits to the government. This law would be the better if it would contain a provision that a taxpayer should not depart for a foreign home after issuing his taxpayment check, without incurring a penalty, say, of disfranchisement,

A CURIOUS RACE.

Gen. Gordon, a British offic er who has written a book on the Sikhs, the elebrated fighters of India, says that the signs by which you may know a hair, but wears his beard looped up over his ears ; he never smokes nor touches tobacco, because that is the privilege of the Mohammedan, but he is allowed to drink spirits and is a great consumer of opium. Finally, he must have about his person the five K's, which Gen. Gordon thus enumertes: Kes (long hair of the head), as the Sikh must never cut his hair or beard; kangi (comb), to secure the hair tied up in a knot on top of the head; kaceh (breeches reaching to the knee); kard (knife), and kirpan

ABOUT STAGE EFFECTS.

Not a few playgoers, it is safe to say, will be glad to learn that one of the foremost American actors and producers has decided to abandon the practice of making lavish scenic dislays a chief feature of attraction. Richard Mansfield, who purposes this innovation, is said to have reached the conclusion that scenic ostentation must be restrained if it is not to lead to the entire subordination of the actor's art. Hence it will be his effort to avoid a dazzling parade of theatrical properties and select his stage fittings with an eye to their true ar-

A similar policy on the part of many other American managers might be appreclated by no inconsiderable proportion of the playgoing public.

BENEFITS OF OUTDOOR SPORTS. Not so very long ago we were a nation of dispepties, humorously cartooned as pie eaters, bolters of food. lovers of indoor life in superheated rooms in winter-our men as a rule void of adequate muscle and healthy digestion, our women physically frail specimens of hothouse beauty at twenty who speedily collapsed when one of the bedrooms became a nursery.

A great change has been worked in the last decade or so. Nowadays almost "everybody and his neighbor" go in for outdoor sports, and the result in the bettered health of the people, women as well as men, is apparent on every side and rejoiced in by all except the family doctor and the drug compounder at the corner.

CURING COLDS.

If a cold is not caught "flagrante delicto" and throttled at once within forty-eight hours of its incipiency it must run its course. The osteopaths are curing numberless cases by the simple manipulation of the throat and neck, abhorring medicines. Most men are taking whisky and quinine. Dio Lewis believed in the cold water cure. "Eat no supper." he said. "At bedtime drink two pints of cold water. In the morning two pints more. Eat a hunk of dry bread for breakfast. Ditto for dinner. Induce a perspiration in the afternoon and fill up on water. Eat no supper-and fill up on water. At bedtime drink as much cold water as you can hold." There are 8,763 other

THINK OF SOMETHING ELSE.

The sick man is he who allows his mind always to dwell upon his physical condition. At the table he is nasty-nice and finikin. This will give me dyspepsia, he whines. This will give me indigestion; this the stomach ache, this the headache, this the neuralgia, this nervousness, this palpitation of the heart, this gout, this rheumatism, etc. Poor fool! Here is the best health hint ever given-Have you a stomach? Forget it.

The doctor who thinks that the scientific selection of parents is the cure for truancy of school children may probably be able to prove his case if he can find enough parents who did not play hookey in their

AT DEATH'S DOOR

"Ten years of stomach trouble reduced me to a living skeleton. I had attacks of pain that doubled me up like a jack-knife and I was as yellow as a gold piece. No medicine or doctors helped me and was really at death's door. A lodge brother advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I found it to be the only medicine to touch my case." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by leading druggists everywhere.

If a Man Buys a Saw-

That Holds Its Edge, Cuts Well, Fits His Hand and Balances Just Right, He Developes a Feeling of Friendship for That Particular Saw and Will Use No Other. When It Wears Out He Buys One Just Like It.

THE success of any product, whether that product be a saw, a pound of sugar or a newspaper, depends upon the consumer's (or readers') opinion of it. .. Hence it follows that the ultimate success of any product or any newspaper depends upon the merit of the article itself.

When manufacturer sells goods on which he has placed his mark of identity (his brand) or publishes a newspaper with his name nailed to its masthead he identifies it. He fixes his own responsibility.

If he wants to make his business permanent and successful he maintains right quality always and if he fails to do this, his first sale will be his last.

A newspaper, like any commodity, varies in quality and value accordingly as the man or men back of it set a standard. The consumer may buy the first time on CHANCE but the next time he buys on SATISFACTION.

Each year an increasing number of the dominant industries of this community who have sought and are seeking the patronage of the people of Greencastle and buying territory adjacent thereto, have placed their advertising in The Greencastle Herald, with its circulation of more than 2,000 prosperous people.
